What is a CWT account?
For those non SSO (single sign-on) users who already access myCWT web with an email address as their user ID and a password, their myCWT credentials are also their CWT account credentials. With a CWT account, users have the same login details to access myCWT, making it easier to manage their travel. For SSO users, they will be automatically logged in.

What if I don’t have myCWT credentials (and, therefore, a CWT account)?
If you do not have myCWT credentials established, you will follow a simple self-registration process within the app to establish your CWT account. Simply enter your work email address, and the app will walk you through the steps.

I am not sure if I have myCWT credentials (and, therefore, a CWT account). What do I do?
Enter your work email address in the appropriate field and the app will direct you through the registration process step by step.

Features

Are the same features available on all devices?
No, some features vary by device and on myCWT web and mobile.

Itineraries

I booked a trip through my company’s online booking tool or CWT travel counselor. Will my reservation sync with myCWT?
Yes, your trip details (air, hotel, rental car, etc.) will automatically sync with myCWT and be able to be viewed and managed as one master trip, whether you book online using your online booking tool or offline through your CWT travel counselor.

How long will it take for a newly booked CWT reservation to populate in myCWT?
Your trip information may take up to 30 minutes to sync to the app.

Are rail itineraries available in myCWT?
Yes, rail itineraries are available in myCWT web and mobile. Depending on the way the rail booking is processed, it may or may not sync automatically. If your rail itinerary did not sync automatically with myCWT, email your confirmation to plans@mycwt.com to have it added. You may also add the details manually on Android, and iOS devices.

How do I add my non-CWT booked reservations/itineraries to myCWT?
On all devices, you can forward your non-CWT itinerary from the same email address that you use to access myCWT to plans@mycwt.com. Your trip reservation(s) will be automatically loaded into your app, and you will receive an email confirmation upon successful upload of the information. Android, and iPhone/iPad users also have the option of adding trip details to the app manually.

I sent my non-CWT booked itinerary to plans@myCWT.com, but it does not appear in myCWT. Why?
You must send your itinerary confirmation from the same email address you use to access myCWT. In addition, the travel confirmation must be from a supported travel provider.

I received a confirmation saying my reservations were successfully added, but I cannot find them in myCWT. How do I get the itineraries to display?
myCWT web works like any webpage - click on the “my trips” tab to refresh the page. On Android and iPhone devices, initiate a manual sync on your device by tapping the sync button at the top right in the “My Trips” menu of the application. (The sync button is represented by two arrows in a circle on Android devices and one circular arrow on iPhone.) On iPad, drag down the “My Trips” menu to sync.
In my list of upcoming trips, why does the trip name differ from my destination city?
The “Trip to” name comes from the city where the traveler stays the longest, which typically corresponds to the address of the traveler’s hotel. That said, Android, iPhone and iPad users easily can change the “Trip to” name using the app’s edit trip feature. Editing the trip location on mobile will reflect on web. Travelers who are not mobile users cannot edit the name on web.

My travel provider is supported, but the confirmation email is being rejected. Why? Please make sure:
- You forward the confirmation email as is. Do not alter it in any way.
- The subject and content of the email are in its original format.
  - If your email program automatically adds the “FW” prefix in the subject line, it is okay.
  - If the mailing program allows it, forward the email in HTML format, rather than plain text.
- Make sure the text of the original email is in the body of the forwarded email and is not sent as an attachment.

Mobile check-in

How do I check in for my flight and get my paperless boarding pass?
Based on your itinerary information, myCWT determines whether online checkin and paperless boarding passes are available. When you click to check in, the app connects you to your airline’s mobile website to complete the process.

How many airlines are available for mobile check-in?
There are more than 250 airlines worldwide offering mobile check-in.

Is mobile check-in available on all devices?
Mobile check-in is available on all devices.

Calendar sync

Calendar sync is only available through mobile on Android, iOS devices. Exporting trips from mobile will reflect in the traveler’s calendar. Importing calendar’s itinerary through mobile will reflect on web.

How do I turn on the calendar sync feature of myCWT?
Within the myCWT app, please do the following:
- For iOS devices (iPhone/iPad):
  - Go to Tools > Settings.
  - Scroll down and tap “calendar sync.”
  - Turn on “sync trips to calendar.”
  - Select a calendar to sync the trips to from the list displayed.
- For Android and Kindle Fire devices:
  - Push the menu button on your phone, and select “settings.” (Or, go to the “General” screen and tap “settings.”)
  - Tap “calendar sync.”
  - Tap the box next to “sync trips to calendar” to check it.
  - Select a calendar to sync the trips to from the list displayed.
Calendar sync is on. Why didn’t my myCWT trip details immediately populate in my calendar? When a trip is added to myCWT, there may be a delay seeing the details in your calendar. This is due to the sync settings on your device, which differ for each device type and user.

I’m an iPhone/iPad/iPod Touch user. Why did I receive a message requesting permission for myCWT to access my calendar? Apple offers a feature that provides users control over apps accessing private information, such as calendars. After enabling calendar sync for the first time, you will receive a pop-up message to grant the myCWT app permission to access your calendar. You can change your permission setting on the device by going to Settings > Privacy > Calendars.

Technical assistance/Troubleshooting

I’m using myCWT for the first time. Why can’t I see my upcoming trips?
Upon accessing the app for the first time, it may take up to 30 minutes for upcoming trips to populate. The amount of time depends on the number of reservations per user. After 30 minutes, you may need to initiate a manual sync on your device.

Why is my completed trip still showing in the upcoming trips section of the app?
A trip moves to the past trips section approximately one full day after the last day of the trip. For example, if your trip ended on June 20, it will move to past trips on June 22.

Why didn’t I receive my flight notification on myCWT mobile?
Flight update notifications start 48 hours before the flight’s departure time. Please ensure notifications are turned on within the app.

• For iOS devices (iPhone/iPad):
  • Go to Settings > Notifications > locate CWT To Go and tap on it.
• Ensure Allow Notifications is enabled:
  • Enable and set one or more of the following to on:
    • Show in Notification Center.
    • Alert style (select banners or alerts).
    • Badge app icon.
    • Sounds.
    • View in lock screen.
• For Android, BlackBerry 10 and Kindle Fire devices:
  • To enable flight notifications, tap “Travel Notifications” from the “General” screen of the myCWT app.
  • Verify the following settings under the “Flight Notification” heading:
    • Notification display: Enabled.
    • Time before flight: Choose number of hours before flight.
    • Notification sound: On.
  • To receive an audio alert:
    • Verify that the box next to “Audio flight alert” is checked.
    • If the box is empty, tap on it one time to check the box.

Flight notifications are enabled. Why am I not receiving alerts?
If flight data is missing or late, it is probably due to one of the following reasons:

• Airlines occasionally provide data on their respective websites but not to the flight-tracking industry.
• Some airlines do not provide actual gate departure or arrival times.
• Some airlines do not share their data.
• Budget and charter airlines tend not to share data or only share limited data, so the flight may not be listed until near the departure time.
• Some airlines—particularly carriers outside the U.S.—do not share any gate data with the flight-tracking industry.
• Gates and terminals often are not provided until approximately 60 minutes prior to departure.
• If you encounter longer delays or inaccurate information, please email us and include the following:
  • Airline, flight number and departure date.
  • The information that you expected to see.
  • The information that the app displayed.
Where can I get additional technical support and assistance?
Please refer to the list below and submit an email to the Technical Service Center for your country or region. You may also tap on the “Support and Feedback” to send feedback from the app.
